

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year from Quiltessential

As we say goodbye to 2011, we at Quiltessential are grateful for the blessings of this past year; the new store, new staff, new quilters and customers. You bring us such joy. We love to see you delight in your projects. Thank you for your support.

We wish you many blessings for 2012:

- ✚ May your stash be full.
- ✚ May you always keep quilting. We are busy with new classes and our Block of the Month – join us any time.
- ✚ May your world be full of colour. New fabrics arrive all the time. Come in to the store and get your colour fix. Have you seen the new Ingrid fabric? No, not Ingrid Machtemes, but "Ingrid" by designer Valori Wells.

- ✚ May quilting provide you with the release and relaxation you need. Quilting is cheaper than therapy!
- ✚ May you make new quilting friends.
- ✚ May your skills grow. Take a class!
- ✚ May you be wrapped in the warmth that only a homemade quilt can bring.
- ✚ May you finish what you start!

P.S. I am all about the trivia and I tried to find out why the Ingrid fabric is called "Ingrid", but with no success. If you stumble upon the answer, let me know!
